OUTLINES.

On their own field at Detroit yesterday, the Detroit team of the American Baseball League, was beaten a third game by the Chicago Nationals, in the world championship series of games between the pennant winners of the two big leagues; it was cold and blustery, but the receipts were $17,285.50, indicating a larger attendance than at the game in Chicago on Thursday.——In a magistrate's court in New York yesterday, a young preacher and another man's wife were committed for examination for their sanity; the woman had left her husband and gone to her pastor's residence, while he talked lunny in Court and declared that she is his affinity. ——Emperor Joseph of Austria is believed to be on his deathbed.——Yesterday was Bryan Day at the Virginia State fair at Richmond, where the Hon. W. J. Bryan addressed an audience of 10,000 people.——Commissioner of Revenue John G. Capers announces that the prohibition and temperance wave in the South has so cut down the revenue on liquors that the government's service in several States has to be curtailed, the result being that South Carolina and Georgia will be consolidated into one revenue district, Oklahoma will be joined to Arkansas, and other States are also affected.——The general convention of the Episcopal Church will have no meeting at Richmond today, as the delegates will visit Jamestown and see the Exposition as the guests of the diocese of Southern Virginia; the House of Bishops yesterday decided to divide the diocese of Oregon.—— The General Council of the Episcopal Church, in session at Richmond yesterday took action to limit the grounds for divorce and took a stand against child labor.——A young couple travelling as Mr. and Mrs. Cunningham have arrived in Liverpool on a steamship and are believed to be a runaway match from New York.——Of the weekly sales of cotton in Liverpool there were 50.000 American bales out of a total of 59,000.——New York markets: Money on call, firm 3 to 4 per cent., ruling rate 4, closing bid 2 1-2, offered at 3; spot cotton 10 points higher, closing strong at 11.75; flour quiet; wheat steady, No. 2 red 1.17 3-8 elevator; corn firm, No. 2, 75 elevator; oats firm, mixed 55 1-2; turpentine quiet; rosin quiet, strained common to good 4.45.

Probably the reason for the widespread demand for a third term for Roosevelt is because he stole Bryan's clothes.

There's nothing new about "milksop" if the President did refer to it. It is simply the progenitor of "mollycoddle."

The Weather Bureau reports frost yesterday morning at Waynesboro, Miss, and Clanton, Ala. The minimum temperature at Wilmington was 54. Weldon's lowest was 44.

Next Summer Asheville will continue to be a nice resort—for ladies, but they must not be surprised if their husbands show some desire to cut the mountain metropolis out of the itinerary.

Pittsburg's Hartje divorce scandal is revived by the infamous millionaire's claim that he has discovered evidence that his wife laid a plot to poison him. What villian frustrated the plot?

President Roosevelt once said that there are "good trusts and bad trusts." The Tobacco Trust has taken advantage of that opportunity to declare in its answer to the government's complaint that it is good, has been good, and has been just as nice as it could be in actually competing with itself to prevent "restraint of trade."

Again comes the report that Ex-President Cleveland is a very sick man. A dispatch from Jersey City says he passed through there on Thursday "leaning on a cane and seemingly just able to limp." He was accompanied by Mrs. Cleveland and a lady friend, and they helped him along. We fear that Mr. Cleveland's illness all Summer has been far more serious than has been made known.

The Hon. William J. Bryan will be in Fayetteville next Tuesday to deliver an address. Chairman J. D. McNeill, of the parade committee, is endeavoring to have for the distinguished Nebraskan an escort of 2,000 mounted men. Next week is Fair Week at Fayetteville, and no doubt our sister Cape Fear city will have to take care of big crowds.

Senator Knox, of Pennsylvania, thus early in the game, has arrived in Washington. He refused to talk politics with the newspaper men, saying that he has gone to the National capital merely to put in his time on certain proposed legislation to come before his committee at the approaching session of Congress. Senator Knox is chairman of the Senate Committee on Judiciary. In the meantime Knox will go on receiving knocks for his Presidential boomlet.

RAILWAY RATE CASE

Standing Master Upheld, State's Attorneys Now Conferring on Further Investigation.

AS TO SOUAHERN'S RECORDS

Colonel Andrews and Raleigh Evening Times People May Be Called to Stand—Statistics of Tobacco Sales for September.

(Special Star Correspondence.)

Raleigh, N. C., Oct. 11.—Now that United States Circuit Judge Jeter C. Pritchard has rendered his decision in the matter of the exceptions to the ruling of Standing Master W. A. Montgomery, in which he refused to allow the counsel for the State in the Southern Railway litigation testing the constitutionality of the North Carolina 2 1-4-cent passenger rate, to examine the books of the Southern further back than two years, and has sustained the ruling of Judge Montgomery, there will be a conference of State's counsel with Governor Glenn probably tomorrow for the purpose of formulating plans for the further prosecution of the investigation. At this conference it will be decided to what extent there shall be further introduction of evidence on the part of the State. Incidentally there will be a disposition of the question of whether Col. A. B. Andrews, first vice president of the Southern, is to be put on the stand, he having already been summoned by the State; also regarding the matter of putting Business Manager Crater, of the Raleigh Evening Times, on the stand for the purpose of probing further into the matter of the Southern Railway vouchers that created such a stir when they were brought to light during the investigation of the books of the Southern in Washington.

Governor Glenn returned this afternoon from Snow Hill, where he delivered an address yesterday in the interest of an impending election for prohibition.

On his return from Snow Hill, Gov. Glenn said the ruling of Judge Pritchard that counsel for the State in the suit of the Southern to test the constitutionality of the passenger rae act should not be allowed to examine the books of the Southern further back than two years, was a great disappointment to him. He said he could not see how counsel for the State could intelligently examine their experts and perfect the State's evidence if they are not allowd to see these books.

The September statistics for sale of leaf tobacco in the warehouses of North Carolina are just made public by the State Department of Agriculture to which all warehouse men are required to report by a special act of the Legislature. The report shows total sales first hand aggregating 19,859,656 pounds, as compared with 8,614,229 pounds for August. The resales for September amounted to 21,711,108 pounds. Wilson leads with 4,476,185 pounds; Greenville is second with 3,556,685 pounds, with Kinston ranking third and Rocky Mount fourth with respectively, 3,051,959 and 1,358,042.

Mrs. Annie E. Dixon Dead.

Friends in this city will regret to learn of the death of Mrs. Annie E. Dixon, aged 76 years, which occurred yesterday morning at 6:30 o'clock at the home of her daughter, Mrs. W. D. McGrew, No. 807 North Fourth street, after an illness of several days, during which members of the family were summoned here to be with the patient. Mrs. Dixon is survived by one son, Mr. J. R. Dixon, of Sumter, S. C., and three daughters, Mrs. McGrew, of this city; Mrs. R. C. Tisdale, of Sumter, S. C., and Mrs C. G. Chanler, of Columbia, S. C. There are also surviving two brothers, Messrs. R. L. and J. S. Watts, and two sisters, Mrs. J. R. Thomas and Mrs J. S. Tisdale, of South Carolina The remains will be taken to Sumter for interment on the morning train today.

LITTLETON COLLEGE.

Its many friends will be gratified to learn that Littleton College, an advertisement of which appeared in this paper during the Summer, has had the largest opening in its history. The growth of this school has been almost phenomenal, the total enrollment last year showing an increase of about 18 per cent. over the previous year.

This institution is doing a most excellent work for the young women of the South and richly merits the esteem in which it is held by the public.

Any parent having a daughter to send off to school would do well to correspond with the management of Littleton College.

UNIVERSITY DAY BANQUET

Wilmington Alumni of Leading State Educational Institution Do Honor to Their Alma Mater—Banquet at Colonial Inn.

Wilmington alumni of the University of North Carolina to the number of upwards of one hundred last night celebrated most fittingly "University Day" with an elaborate dinner at the Colonial Inn. The pretty dining room of the hotel was attractively decorated in the colors of the University, white and blue, while here and there was a touch of Southern smilax and other plants and flowers that made of the event a pretty one indeed. The guest of honor was Judge J. Crawford Biggs, of Durham, who is now holding Superior Court in this city and who is not only one of the distinguished alumni of the University but was at one time a member of the faculty of the law school of the far-famed institution of learning. Judge Biggs was one of the principal speakers of the evening and his presence added dignity and pleasure to the dinner.

It was near nine o'clock when the loyal alumni of University of North Carolina sat down to the sumptuous repast provided for the occasion. The menu, which was served in excellent style by the management of the hotel, was as follows:

Martini
Little Necks
Stuffed Mangoes Queen Olives
Baked Drum, Shrimp Sauce
Stuffed Bell Peppers with Chicken Livers
Rice Birds on Toast
Colonial Punch
Chicken Salad
Cheese Straws
Brown Bread Biscuit
Ice Cream. French Macaroons
Assorted Cakes
Cream De Mints
Coffee
Cigars Cigarettes
Sauterne

When fragrant Havanas had been passed around post-prandial expressions of loyalty to their alma mater were made by Judge Biggs, Mr. Eugene S. Martin, Dr. Thomas, Louis Goodman, Esq., and others, all of the toasts having been informal in their nature but scintillating with wit and good humor. It was after the midnight hour that the guests departed with most pleasant recollenctions of the University Day clebration of the year 1907.

A pleasing feature of the dinner was the reading of a letter from President Venable in which he conveyed most cordial greetings and expressed appreciation of the loyalty of the Wilmington alumni of the University.

A permanent organization of the University Society at Wilmington was perfected with the election of Mr. Eugene S. Martin, as president; Dr. George G. Thomas, vice president; and Mr. Benj. Bell, Jr., secretary and treasurer.

To the committee which had in charge the arrangements for the University Day dinner the Wilmington alumni are deeply grateful. This committee was composed of Louis Goodman, Esq., chairman; Dr. Pride Jones Thomas, Preston Cumming, Jr., Esq., Benj. Bell, Jr., and Joseph W. Yates.

BUFFALO BILL HOME AGAIN.

Wild West Exhibition Here After Five Years in Europe.

Realism is reality—that is what Buffalo Bill's Wild West really is. Perfect in organization, simple and effective in its many features, this organization holds up the mirror of Nature, and you see the actual- living scenes that marked the settlement of the far West when men and women lived and died in pursuit of homes beyond the Alleghany mountain ranges.

The Wild West is coming here Thursday on its tour of the United States, after a five years' sojourn in Europe. It took these five years to exhibit the Wild West from London to Paris, from Berlin to Vienna, from Florence to Rome, from Budapest to Crockow, and it will require fully as much time for Col. Cody to carry his Congress of Rough Riders from the Atlantic to the Pacific, from the Great Lakes to the Gulf of Mexico. This shows how the Republic has grown and prospered since the days of pony express riders, army scouts and cowboys were employed on the wide plains and on the slopes of the Rocky Mountains. And here is the point: Col. Cody's (Buffalo Bill) exhibition is realistic and faithful in historical facts, features and personnel. Real Indians, real cowboys and rancho girls, real vacqueros from Mexico, real Japanese, Russian and Arabian horsemen, they are all there, and the Wild West is the most real thing that has ever been attempted in this or any other country. The Battle of Summit Springs, the Railroad Holdup, the Stage Coach Attack, the Cow Boy Bucking Bronchos, with all the other wonderful features constitute a programme that can never be equalled, much less excelled. The sensation lately created in New York and Chicago and the management's well known fidelity to promises assures our citizens of a splendid performance. No street parade permits time and attention to the actual exhibition. Two performances will be given at 2 and 8 P. M., rain or shine.

Good service given both regular and table boarders at "The Harnett." Centrally located. oc 10-3t

COL. W. J. WOODWARD

Well Known and Highly Esteemed Wilmington Citizen Passed Away Yesterday.

HAD BEEN ILL FOR WEEKS

End Not Unexpected But Sad Blow to Hundreds of Friends Throughout the State—Remains to Fayetteville.

With infinite sorrow to hundreds of friends in this city and elsewhere in the State where he was widely known and highly esteemed will come the announcement of the death of Colonel William Joseph Woodward, which occurred yesterday evening at half after six o'clock at the family home in Wilmington, No. 210 North Second street, after a lingering illness since the first of September with Bright's Disease. Three weeks ago Colonel Woodward had rallied from an attack which gave the family and friends great concern but this was soon followed by a relapse and those who anxiously waited at his bedside saw Thursday evening that it was but a question of time until the end would come. Colonel Woodward remained conscious almost to the last and answered the summons with that Christian fortitude and resignation that was a characteristic of his long and useful life. Most of the members of the family and intimate friends were with him when he passed away. The death was expected, but the realization of it came as a shock to the loved ones gathered about him and to the hundreds of friends in the city, who learned of the death during the evening.

Colonel Woodward was born in Fayetteville on the first of September 1843 and was, therefore, in the sixty-fifth year of his age. His parents were Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Woodward, of Fayetteville, his venerable mother still surviving him and having reached his bedside a short time after the death yesterday evening. At the outbreak of the Civil War Colonel Woodward cast his lot with the Southern Confederacy and enlisted with a company which was a member of the famous Bethel regiment. After that he was detailed to important work in connection with the arsenal at Fayetteville and remained at his post of duty there until the surrender of arms at Appomattox. He remained in Fayetteville until after the war but very soon thereafter went to New York and was engaged in business there for five years, later removing to Florida where he remained until 1886 when he came to Wilmington and became connected with the large cotton exporting firm of Messrs. Alexander Sprunt & Son. At the time of his death he was traffic manager of the large shipping interests of that house and also secretary of the Champion Compress and Warehouse Company, an allied corporation of the firm. During his twenty-two years residence in this city Colonel Woodward had drawn to himself a company of friends such as few men in this time are privileged to enjoy. His interest in the young men was one of his distinguishing traits and there are many of the younger generation, who feel in the death of Colonel Woodward that they have lost a personal friend and a wise counsellor. Kindly in his disposition, genial and ever ready to turn his hand to the help and alleviation of the suffering, he was a model for those who would seek to lay up treasures hereafter. He had a noble spirit, his integrity was never questioned and his high character and urbanity was the remark of those who came in contact with him. Truly, his place in the community will be hard to fill.

The fraternal spirit was strong in Colonel Woodward and he took a prominent part in the affairs of the Knights of Pythias, being one of the founders and one of the most enthusiatic members of Jefferson Lodge No. 61, of this city, and having at one time served the Grand Lodge of the State in the highest office in its gift, that of Grand Chancellor. Colonel Woodward also took an active part in the affairs of the United Confederate Veterans, being a prominent member and at one time an officer of Cape Fear Camp No. 254, U. C. V., of this city. He was also one of the aides of the staff of General Gordon, commanding the United Confederate Veterans in the United States with the rank of Colonel and was a prominent figure in all the U. C. V. general reunions. Colonel Woodward was also an active member and was an officer of the Seamen's Friend Society which is doing such a great work among the seafaring men in port. His kindly presence in the community will be missed for many days to come.

Colonel Woodward married Miss Mary Jane Worth, a daughter of the venerable Mr. B. G. Worth, of this city, and she with the following children survive him: Messrs. C. W. Woodward, J. M. Woodward, of this city; Mr. Eugene S. Woodward, of Chattanooga, Tenn., Mrs. A. F. Bowen, of Raleigh; Mrs. John L. Hazelhurst, Misses Cornelia, Alice Wood, Elizabeth T., and Emma M. Woodward, of this city. There are also surviving his aged mother, Mrs. A. J. Woodward, of Fayetteville; and the following sisters and brothers: Mrs. D. A. McMillan and Miss Alice Woodward, of Fayetteville; Mrs. Hall, of Red Springs; Mrs. R. T. Whitehead, of Enfield, N. C.; Mr. George A. Woodward, of Durham; Mr. Pembroke W. Woodward, of Fayetteville, and Mr. Joel A. Woodward, of Stillmore, Ga. His venerable mother and two sisters, Mrs. McMillan and Miss Alice Woodward, reached the city last night from Fayetteville, a few hours after he died. Other members of the family arrived during the day, all having been here a few weeks ago when Colonel Woodward was so desperately ill.

After brief funeral services from the residence Sunday morning by the Rev. J. M. Wells, D. D., pastor of the First Presbyterian Church, of which Colonel Woodward was a devoted member, the remains will be taken to the old home at Fayetteville, N. C., for interment.

AN AGGRAVATED ASSAULT

Young Man Involved in Difficulty in Which Figures Pretty Young Girl to Whom He Had Been Paying Court.

There was but one case of interest before the police court yesterday at noon and that was continued until Monday. The defendant is young Mr. Will Anderson, a tinner employed at the Hanover Iron Works, and he is charged with an aggravated assault upon Mr. R. J. Smith, delivery wagon driver for the Holmes Grocery Company who lives at 909 South Fifth street. The arrest was made Thursday night at the home of young Anderson, Fifth and Church streets, by Policeman W. R. Appleberry, who had been detailed by Chief Williams to investigate certain letters of the black hand type that had been sent to Mr. Smith and also his daughter, Miss Hettie Smith, 16 years old, and to a young man who had been paying her court since young Anderson is alleged to have been forbidden the girl's company by her parents.

The receipt of anonymous letters by Mr. Smith, his young daughter and a certain young man with whom she has been going since Anderson was denied her company, was reported to the police Thursday, copies of unsigned letters having been exhibited threatening the life of the young lady and her escort if the latter did not cease his attentions to the girl. Mr. Smith, who had been confined to his home by illness, also reported that twice during the day a young man had called at the house and asked to see the young lady, being denied this privilege each time. It seems that the parents did not know Mr. Anderson personally as he had met Miss Smith away from the house where she had been employed as a seamstress and the visits coupled with the letters that had been received gave the parents and the young lady some alarm. The request to the police station was that an officer be sent there Thursday night in case the visit of the mysterious young man was repeated. Policeman W. R. Appleberry was detailed to the duty but before he reached the house Thursday night, young Anderson had returned. Mr. Smith in his alarm met the caller with a shot gun on the front porch. Young Anderson disarmed him and in the scuffle threw the father to the floor, it is alleged. When Mrs. Smith came to her husband's rescue, it is alleged that she also was attacked by the ardent young man. These facts were reported to Officer Appleberry and a warrant was at once sworn out for young Anderson's arrest and he was later taken to the City Hall charged with an assault. His bond was fixed at $100 justified and this was at once given by Mr. R. V. Leonard for whom a brother of the defendant works in the store on Market street. Yesterday young Mr. Anderson employed an attorney and will fight the case in the courts. In justice to him, it should be stated that the black hand letters received by Miss Smith are not in his handwriting and that he denies knowledge of them. He says that he went to the house of the parents to explain that he was not the author of these threatening missives and that he was met with a shot gun and was placed on the defensive.

The case, in any event, has several interesting phases and the hearing Monday will be interesting. Anderson is of a good family and has friends in the city who do not believe that he is guilty of the conduct imputed to him. Mr. and Mrs. Smith are also excellent people and the situation in which they are placed is to say the least embarrassing, if not alarming. All the matters in connection with the affair are expected to be brought out at the trial before the Mayor on Monday.

Reunion of Brunswick Veterans.

The Southport Herald is requested by Mr. W. W. Drew chairman, to announce that the annual reunion of the Brunswick County Confederate Veterans will be held at Shallotte on the 29th of this month. Everyone is invited to be present that day.

GOES TO JURY TO-DAY

Suit For $25,000 Actual Damages Against Seaboard Nearing an End.

EVIDENCE ALL IN YESTERDAY

Argument to Jury is Nearly Completed and Issues Will Be Submitted This Forenoon—Today Concludes the Term.

Unless there is some unforseen delay the $25,000 damage suit of Captain John D. Bowen against the Seaboard Air Line for personal injuries received in the Hamlet wreck July a year ago will go to the jury in the Superior Court here today before noon. The testimony for both sides was completed early yesterday afternoon and before a recess for the day at 6 o'clock yesterday evening four of the five speeches to the jury had been made. Mr. Marsden Bellamy, Sr., is to complete the argument when court convenes this morning and then will follow the charge of His Honor, Judge Biggs, and the twelve men who have had the case in hearing for the past two days will say in what measure of damages the plaintiff is entitled to recover. The defendant railroad company's attorneys admit their liability and the argument to the jury yesterday was wholly as to the amount the plaintiff should recover, the attorneys for Captain Bowen contending for the full amount of $25,000 inasmuch as the issue of punitive damages had been eliminated by Judge Biggs and the railroad attorneys contending that $4,000 or $5,000 would compensate for the injuries received by Captain Bowen.

Practically all the evidence yesterday was of an expert and technical character, this being by physicians both for the railroad and the plaintiff, who had made an examination of Captain Bowen during the morning. Dr. Burbank, who had been selected to be with Chief Surgeon Burthe and Assistant Surgeon Holladay, of the Seaboard, was engaged professionally during the day with his regular practice and could not be present as he had expected. Dr. Jos. Akerman was secured as the local representative of the railroad company at the physical examination of the plaintiff and Drs. F. H. Russell, A. H. Harriss and Thos. M. Green were the physicians representing the plaintiff. Aside from the expert testimony, Mrs. Bowen, wife of the plaintiff, testified as to his injuries and the condition of her husband since the accident. There were also a number of character witnesses, including Colonel Walker Taylor, B. G. Empie, Esq., Geo. H. Howell, Esq., Messrs. J. A. Taylor, H. W. Malloy and Geo. Harris. Capt. Bowen was given a very high character and all witnesses told of the esteem in which he is held in Wilmington and elsewhere in this section.

The expert testimony was all of a technical character and tended to show that Captain Bowen was permanently injured and that he might be a cripple for life. Various hypothetical questions were submitted and answered both for the plaintiff and the railroad company. After offering in evidence the recognized table of man's expectancy, the plaintiffs rested and a recess was taken until 2:15 o'clock in the afternoon. The defendants after the noon recess began the introduction of their expert witnesses as stated above Dr. Akerman having been first and having been kept on the stand for something more than an hour. When this was completed Judge Biggs ruled that the plaintiff was not entitled to recover punitive damages inasmuch as wilful and wanton negligence had not been shown and the attorneys went to the jury on the question of actual damages only.

Marsden Bellamy, Jr., Esq., for the plaintiff, first addressed himself to the jury in a clear argument of twenty minutes, outlining the contentions of the plaintiff. He was followed by Mr. Junius Davis for the railroad company in a speech of about twenty minutes, dealing largely with the questions of law at issue in the case. Mr. McClammy followed for the plaintiff in a speech of something more than an hour. Then followed Hon. John D. Bellamy, for the railroad, both the latter arguments having dealt with all phases of the case and having been remarkably fine presentations of the law and facts as they applied to question of damages.

Judge Biggs is anxious to complete the case today as he goes next week to Jacksonville to hold Onslow Superior Court and unless he can leave on this afternoon's train, he cannot reach Jacksonville before Monday afternoon too late to open the term on time, there being no Sunday train on the Newbern road.

Locates in Wilmington.

The following from this week's issue of the Southport Herald will be read with interest and pleasure by many friends in this city: "Joseph W. Ruark, Esq., has decided to locate in Wilmington, having formed a copartnership with Woodus Kellum, Esq., of that city. Their offices are located in the Odd Fellows building where the firm would be pleased to see their friends."

GOUGING UNDER PROTECTION.

The opening of bids for the transportation of coal for the use of the great cruise of our battleship fleet to the Pacific, shows what the benezciaries of protection will do when they get a chance. It also shows what the people have to pay for the benefit of the beneficiaries of the Republican paternalistic-protective tariff.

The New Orleans Picayune reminds us of the fact that some of the advocates of ship subsidies and prohibitive and restrictive shipping laws have been taking the Navy Department severely to task for advocating the employment of foreign bottoms in transportation of the coal required by the battleship squadron during the cruise to the Pacific coast. As is well known, an enormous quantity of coal will be required and the number of American vessels available as colliers is limited.

It is reported that the bids of the American ship owners for the freightage of the coal amounted to just twice as much as the prices bid by foreign shipping. This was so transparently a gouge that the President practically decided to employ the foreign ships, but out of deference to the great hue and cry raised by the protected shipping interest it was finally decided to offer as much as 50 per cent. more for American ships than the price demanded by foreign vessels. It is reported that even that generous offer has failed to bring bidders for a greater amount than 10 per cent. of the tonnage required.

Under the existing laws the President is authorized to employ foreign vessels for transport purposes whenever a sufficient emergency arises to warrant such action or when the prices asked for the service by American vessels are clearly exorbitant. In this case it is evident that there exists both a scarcity of American tonnage as well as a fixed determination on the part of American ship owners to demand exorbitant rates. Under such conditions the Navy Department, under the instructions of the President, could hardly have adopted any other course than employ foreign bottoms for carrying the desired coal.

Most all reasonable people will agree with our New Orleans contemporary that it undoubtedly is somewhat humiliating for a country as rich as the United States to have to depend upon foreign shipping for transport service. It compels our Navy to permit foreigners to become better acquainted with its movements and doings than sound public policy demands. The experience in the present case, however, shows what might be expected had the ship subsidy law been passed. The shipowners would have drained the Treasury of millions, yet whenever it became necessary to transport the Navy's coal or perform any other public service, the government would be charged twice the amount that the service would properly be worth.

Under the Republican party's policy it is furthermore humiliating that American shipping has not developed. The Picayune says of the situation:

"While it is conceded that owing to our oppressive shipping laws it costs much more to operate American ships than foreign vessels, still the difference is by no means as great as the enormous freight which American ship owners demanded of the government for carrying the coal required by the battleship fleet. If such rates of freight must be demanded by American ships to insure a reasonable profit, then there is no earthly chance of ever building up an extensive American merchant marine for the general ocean-carrying trade, as even with the biggest sort of subsidies American bottoms would be unable to meet the competition of foreign ships. Despite all discouragements, however, the ship subsiday people are very certain to come before the next Congress again with a new subsidy bill, entirely unabashed by the developments of the past year or by the failures that have heretofore attended their efforts."

In all probability the ship subsidy advocates will win in Congress. They will use this very Pacific cruise as one of their biggest arguments to have the people contribute millions to their interests.

JUDGE PRITCHARD SUSTAINS MASTER MONTGOMERY.

In the United States Circuit at Asheville on Thursday, Judge Pritchard rendered a decision sustaining the ruling of Standing Master Montgomery in refusing to allow the State's attorneys in the railway rate case hearing to investigate the books of the Southern Railway prior to June 30th, 905. The court says that the exceptions to the ruling of the standing master are without merit and are, therefore, overruled. The appeal of the defendants was argued last Saturday by counsel and since then Judge Pritchard has had the matter under consideration. Commenting upon the decision of Judge Pritchard, the Charlotte Observer of yesterday says:

"Judge Pritchard ruled yesterday in the matter of the appeal to him by the State's counsel in the rate case, from Standing Master Montgomery, that the State may examine the indexes of the disbursements, in so far as they may bear upon the pending litigation, of the Southern Railway Company from June 30, 1905, to July 1, 1907, notwithstanding that counsel has had access to the books; that they may ascertain from the books the original cost of the property to the Southern Railway Company; but that they may not examine them as to disbursements prior to June 30, 1905. We had hoped that Judge Pritchard would see his way clear to allow an investigation for as long a period and as wide in its scope as any one could desire, though the relevancy of all the testimony that might have been adduced to the question, whether 2 1-4 cents is or is not a fair passenger rate, might have been remote.

"This is a period in North Carolina when much is being said and more than is said is suspected about corporation books and what they would show if examined, in the way of the payment and receipt of money for illegitimate purposes. It is therefore a great pity that there could not be a searching examination of the records of all public service corporations for at least ten years past and a full showdown of the findings. There are strong intimations that the Seaboard Air Line could a tale unfold, and when its case comes to trial, if it ever does, there ought to be more than a casual look at the books."

Under the law, it is quite probable that the Special Master's ruling and Judge Pritchard's decision are correct in sustaining the contentions of the railroad that in the nature of the State's position the records prior to June 30, 1905, cannot be raked up against it in this action; but it does not dissipate the suspicion that the books contain matters that the railroad would prefer not to have divulged While the railroad gets the benefit of a certain amount of immunity by the decision, if the whole proceeding tends to prevent in the future such transactions as are best kept in the dark, some good will come out of it all. Railroads as well as individuals should not have a shady past.

CURRENT COMMENT.

—The wireless message which reaches into midocean to locate a fugitive from justice adds a new worry to the criminal and a new wonder to detective romance.—New York World.

—The Greensboro Industrial News suggests a subject for Mr. Bryan when he speaks at the Democratic banquet in the Gate City next week. Now, don't that put the Nebraskan statesman in a thunderin' fix.—Salisbury Post.

—It is distressing to hear such a sensible railroader as President Ripley, of the Atchison, talk of a "lack of confidence." In this part of the United States there is ample belief in all the institutions and corporations which merit it.—Philadelphia Press (Rep.)

—The profits of the Charleston County Dispensary being $29,000 for the first six months of its career, the only possible obstacle to prevent them aggregating $100,000 for the year would be the preference of the people that a part of the profits be diverted from the public treasury into the pockets of lawbreakers. The citizen pays his money and takes his choice; to buy from the dispensaries and lessen his taxes, or buy from the tiger and swell the tiger's wealth.—Charleston News and Courier.

—A patron of the higher arts, as well as of poetry and science. The Observer rejoices in the knowledge that a fiddlers' convention is to be pulled off at Winston about the 20th of November. Wilkes, Davie, Yadkin, Surry, Alleghany and other counties in addition to Forsyth, will be represented and a sworray (accent on the last syllable, please,) which will be worth while may be expected. Pie and music are incompatible, hence Rowan, though a neighborning county, will be barred.—Charlotte Observer.

—An Indianapolis dispatch of yesterday's date read as follows: "Following a conference lasting until early today between William Jennings Bryan and John W. Keern, the latter having been several times the Democratic candidate for Governor, relative to what Bryan ought to do about the presidential nomination, it is said that Bryan will give the Democrats to understand just what his attitude toward the presidential nomination is before Thanksgiving." There is a story about a Dutch justice of the peace who announced at the end of the hearing of a case: "I vill not decide dis case today but vill vait till nex' T'ursday ven I decides mit de plaintiff."

This Much Piano Free — The Rest On Easy Terms

You can actually effect a cash saving of $113 by joining with ninety-nine other people in the Ludden & Bates piano club now forming. By selling pianos in this way, a hundred at a time, instead of one, we so reduce expense that our club members get a genuine $400 instrument for only $287;—a saving of almost a third.

Better still, the club terms are so easy that anyone can have a piano. But little cash is needed. You pay $10.00 and receive your piano when you join the club; the balance in little monthly payments.

The Ludden & Bates New Scale PIANO

is in every respect equal to any $400 piano in the world. Full cabinet grand, balanced scale, made perfect by the finest skill and material. Double repeating action, genuine ivory keys and artistic cases of fancy walnut, mahogany or oak. Full, sweet tone, with that peculiar singing quality found only in the highest grade pianos.

In case of the death of the head of the family we cancel the club contract and make you an outright present of the unpaid balance. The piano then belongs to you absolutely. This free life insurance has allowed the completion of many a musical education, and is worth your consideration. It is practically an assurance that you will not lose your piano through inability to pay dues.

Write us at once for an application blank and complete description of different styles of finish. In this way you can make a selection that will delight you. You can leave the question of tone to us. We will see that you get a perfect instrument. A well-made, attractive stool and a beautiful scarf go with each piano. Write for full information of the club that is now forming.

SEEK NEW METHOD TO EXPEDITE MAIL

Postoffice Department Will Give Best Possible Service—Mail Boxes on Street Cars—Plan May Be Adopted in All Cities.

Washington,, Oct. 8.—"Expedition in the handling of mail, particularly mail of the first class, is the aim of the Postoffice Department. It is our purpose to afford this American people the best possible postal facilities and to this end every resource of the department will be employed."

Although the present Postmaster General, George V. L. Meyer, has been in office only since last March, he has taken hold of postal affairs in a definite and practical way. He is, above all, a thorough American business man and he realizes the fact that the Postoffice Department is one of the biggest business institutions in the world. He proposes to conduct it, so long as he may be the head of the department, in a business-like way. He has ideas of his own concerning improvements in the postal service and he is putting them into effect as rapidly as is consonant with efficient administration. He is deeply interested in the subject of parcels post and is engaged in working out a scheme by which it may be put in practical operation in this country. It is likely that he may have some important recommendations regarding parcels post to make in his annual report. He does not stop with that, however, but is working to facilitate the transmission of first-class mail. It was in connection with the handling of first class mail that he made the above statement.

It is not unlikely that the time is not far distant when every street car, especially those in the larger cities will be a traveling postoffice. Postmaster General Meyer and his subordinates in the department now have under consideration a plan by which it is proposed, if it can be made effective, to save many hours in the trnsmission of letters by utilizing street cars as mediums between the senders and receivers. The idea is that when a letter is written, the sooner it is on its way the better. Then, too, an improvement in the service will mean, in the opinion of the postal officials, an increased use of the mails. If the writer of a letter knows that his missive will reach its destination promptly he will use the mails where now he may employ the telegraph. That will add to the revenues of the government and at the same time be a cheaper service to the people.

It is proposed that every street car shall be equipped with a mail box in which mail matter of various kinds may be deposited with assurance that it will be delivered on that particular trip at the postoffice. The cars will stop to receive mail just as they do to take on passengers. The scheme has been tried in an experimental way on a street car line between St. Paul and Minneapolis and has been found to work admirably. It is only a question of time until it will be put in operation in many of the large cities and it is the intention gradually to extend it to the country street car lines, so that people in rural communities may avail themselves of a service that is not now possible.

HAIR TELLS CHARACTER.

Color of Hair Said to Indicate a Person's Temperament.

Many people believe that blonde, light hair denotes affection and dark hair constancy. A person without hair is not devoid of character; far from it. The disposition of the average bald-headed man is to show such solicitude for the welfare of others, that he neglects himself. A germ causes baldness. Prof. Sabouraud, of Paris, France, inoculated a rabbit with Dandruff germs, causing it to become totally bald in five weeks' time. To rid the scalp of these dangerous germs it is necessary to apply Newbro's Herpicide.

DRIVER SUSPENDED.

Investigation of Recent Accident to Fire Apparatus Yesterday.

The Fire Committee of the Board of Aldermen, composed of Chairman W. A. French, Jr., and Messrs. Rathjen and Bolles, met yesterday afternoon at the office of the Mayor and investigated fully the recent wreck of Hose Company No. 2 at Fourth and Princess streets, while responding to a general alarm on account of the burning of the Hannah Box Shook Company's plant at Ninth and Dickinson streets. There were present in addition to members of the committee, Mayor Williams E. Springer and Fire Chief Chas. Schnibben, who was not in the city at the time, but who since returned to the city. A large number of witnesses were introduced, including members of the ill-fated company, and a statement was read from Foreman W. A. Canady, who is still in the hospital as the result of injuries received on that occasion. As the result of the investigation, Driver Marsden Sellars, of Hose Company No. 3, was suspended for fifteen days for reckless driving. The driver went on the stand himself and contended that he was not responsible for the accident as one of the reins became undone and caught in the hames of the harness. This was corroborated by several members of the company, but the committee held that the driver should have had the horses under better control and he was suspended for the length of time stated. Several outsiders testified as to the accident, some of them in favor of the driver and others against. The committee thought best as a measure of discipline to suspend the driver and this was done.

Capt. W. A. Canady, who was injured in the accident, is doing well at the hospital, and while he will be laid up for a long time, it is hoped that he is not seriously injured. Hoseman Fritz Zellers, who was the other member of the company injured, was present at the hearing and testified that in his opinion the driver could not have been at fault.

BUILDING SUUPLY HOUSE

Mr. J. Wilson Wood, Formerly With Pullman, Opens Business.

Aside from its importance to the business industries of the city, there is interest and pleasure in the announcement that Mr. J. Wilson Wood, formerly conductor of the Pullman Company running out of Wilmington, has resigned that position and after a sojourn of some three weeks in the West, has returned to the city for the purpose of beginning business on his own account here, having opened an office in the Wilder Building, on Princess street, where he will deal wholesale and retail in all kinds of building supplies. Mr. Wood has ample storage and warehouse facilities elsewhere in the city and has formed connections with some of the largest establishments in the country, placing him in a position to meet all competition and to serve the trade expeditiously and with satisfaction. Mr. Wood is well known in Wilmington and since his residency here has made a great many friends who will be glad to know that he has decided to locate in this city permanently.

The style of the firm will be J. Wilson Wood and he will carry a line of pressed, paving, common, fire and ornamental brick in all colors; crushed stone, mortar colors, plaster ornaments, lime, plaster, cement, paints and strains together with ornamental iron, expanded metal, steel lath, corner bead, architectural terra cotta, slate roofing, tile, pipe and rain tile. Mr. Wood opened for business yesterday and already has assurances of good patronage.

THE DAUGHTERS ELECT.

Mrs. M. S. Willard, of Wilmington, First Vice President U. D. C.

Greensboro, N. C., Oct. 11.—The United Daughters of the Confederacy of the State concluded their sessions here this morning. The following officers were elected: President, Mrs. I. W. Faison, of Charlotte; first vice president, Mrs. R. F. Dalton, of Greensboro; second vice president, Mrs. M. S. Willard, of Wilmington; third vice president, Mrs. G. P. Erwin, of Morganton; recording secretary, Mrs. F. M. Williams, of Newton, re-elected; corresponding secretary, Mrs. Gordon Finger, of Charlotte; register, Mrs. Lee Heart, of Raleigh; treasurer, Miss Alice Nelson, of Greensboro; historian, Miss Rebecca Cameron, of Hillsboro, re-elected; assistant historian, Mrs. W. O. Shannon, of Henderson.

Following the election of officers a portrait of General Julian S. Carr was presented to the convention, the speech of presentation being made by Hon. Charles Manly Stedman. The meeting was then declared adjourned.

Change in Consolidated Schedule.

Effective tomorrow there will be a slight change in the schedule of the suburban cars of the Consolidated Company. The car now leaving at 5 P. M., will leave at 5:30 P. By Special Messenger.

By WARING MITCHELL.

Copyright, 1907, by Homer Sprague.

On that certain Tuesday morning, when Colonel Graves got ready to start for the city from his country place, he said to his daughter Winnie:

"It is possible that I may want those Mexican bonds this afternoon, and here is the key of the safe. If I have to have them, I will send you a note by a special messenger."

The colonel was something of a lawyer, speculator and broker, and Miss Winnie was his nineteen-year-old daughter. She acted as his amanuensis at home and was pretty familiar with his business transactions. The bonds spoken of had a face value of $20,000, but of late had been rather wabbly in the market and had caused the colonel considerable anxiety. At 1 o'clock that afternoon he wanted the bonds and telephoned his daughter to that effect, saying that he would send a messenger. Instead of sending a boy from the regular service he stepped into the office of Jones next door and said:

"Jones, I want a trusty fellow to run out to my house and bring me back some bonds. Haven't I noticed a young man around here?"

"Yes. He's a nephew of mine. He's out now, but write a line and I'll send him when he returns. He ought to go out to East Park and back in an hour."

The colonel wrote a line to Miss Winnie to deliver the bonds to bearer and then went out on "the street" on business. Fifteen minutes later Jones' nephew was making for the Grand Central station as fast as the express in the subway would carry him.

Jones hadn't given the young man's biography, but it may be stated that his name was Vincent Gray, his age twenty-two, and he was in the office of his uncle to learn the devious ways of Wall street before setting up in business for himself on the comfortable fortune left him by a deceased aunt. For a young man who expected to come in contact with bulls and bears and other animals, young Gray was very trustful of human nature. For instance, while his train was speeding along underneath the streets and he was hanging to a strap thinking of things financial a young man with ambitions leaned against him and picked his pocket without exciting the least suspicion.

The light fingered youth found there only a cardcase and the letter to Miss Winnie, but they were sufficient to bring about several unlooked for results. He passed into another car and opened and read the letter, and he saw the golden opportunity he had been long looking for. In the cardcase were two or three dollar bills. The thief had a right to infer that his victim had no more money about him. He likewise had a right to infer that young Gray could not produce the wherewithal to buy a ticket for East Park. The fare was only 20 cents, but without it a man is as badly off as if the sum were $5.

There was a train ready to leave. The thief bought his ticket and got aboard. Vincent Gray stood at the ticket window and fussed and fumbled and was left. His cardcase and money were gone, and when he found that the letter had also taken wings he realized that he was in trouble. He hadn't even a nickel to get back to the office. He hadn't the wherewithal to telephone to his uncle Jones in New street, and after wasting fifteen minutes trying to figure out the problem he made haste to a pawnshop, where he put down his watch for $5.

The next train to East Park was ten minutes late in starting and the same in reaching the Park, so there were in all fifty minutes lost. The young man had not suspected that he was the victim of a pickpocket, but supposed he had lost his property in the jam while boarding the car. He had been told that a telephone message would precede him, and he had remembered the address. Therefore he did not worry so much over the loss of the letter. It was only when he came face to face with Winnie Graves and stated his errand and saw her look of surprise and distrust that he realized the situation.

"Why, sir," she replied, "those bonds were delivered to a messenger more than half an hour ago."

"But I was sent for them and was delayed."

"If you were sent for them, you must have a line from my father."

"I—I had a line, but unfortunately I lost it, together with my money. My name is Vincent Gray, and I am in the office of Ezra Jones, in the same building with your father. I am afraid that some rascal found the lost letter and has taken advantage of it."

"And I am afraid that another rascal is trying to do the same thing!" exclaimed Miss Winnie's Aunt Ruth, who was at the head of the house and who had entered the library just in time to hear the young man's words.

"But, madam, you surely can't think that I"—

"I can think what I please, sir. Can you imagine we were idiotic enough to give up those bonds without a written order from Colonel Graves?"

"But whoever presented that order was an impostor."

"Perhaps so, and perhaps it is the impostor who is here now. Winnie, go to the telephone and ask your father the name of the messenger he sent. He wouldn't have sent Tom, Dick or Harry on such an important errand. Young man, sit down here until we find out the truth of this matter."

The girl went to the telephone, and the young man sat down with visions of policemen and prison bars passing before his eyes. The aunt took a seat directly in front of him and stared at him in a cold, cruel way—a way that gave him to understand that she would let no guilty man escape. After three or four minutes Winnie returned to the room to say:

"That's always the way. Central tells me that the line into the city is crossed or something and it may be an hour or more before they find out the trouble and remedy it."

"Then I will go back and tell your father the situation," said Mr. Gray. "Some sharper has the bonds, and the police should be notified at once."

"You will sit right here until that telephone wire is in working order!" announced Aunt Ruth. "There are men about the place, and we have dogs and guns, and if you try to run away it will be the worse for you. Winnie, notify the coachman that we have a suspicious character in the house."

"She needn't do anything of the sort. I will sit here until you have solved the mystery. I am to blame for losing the letter, but if the bonds are not recovered it will not be my fault."

"He doesn't look like a suspicious person," whispered Winnie to her aunt, but in tones loud enough so that he caught the words and turned red again.

"He may not to you, who can't tell a robber from a church deacon. But he does to me, and here he shall stay until we know all about it. You sit down in the hall and wait for the telephone, and I'll keep him under my eyes."

Aunt Ruth leaned back in her chair, folded her arms, compressed her lips and fastened her eyes on Mr. Gray, and had he been a bunko man of ten years' standing he must have been disconcerted. As it was, he coughed and blushed and hitched around and crossed and recrossed his legs. When the aunt broke the silence, it was to impart no cheerful information. What she said was:

"It makes you squirm to realize that you've reached the end of your rope at last, but you'll squirm more still when the judge pronounces sentence. While I pity your poor mother, I hope you'll get at least ten years."

Mr. Gray made no reply. He couldn't find words. About every ten minutes for the next hour he received a brief, vigorous lecture until he was almost worked up to the point where he thought of jumping through a window and taking his chances, when a man's step was heard. There was an "Oh, papa!" from Miss Winnie in the hall, and Colonel Graves stalked in to exclaim:

"What in the devil is the matter here?"

"There he sits!" replied Aunt Ruth as she pointed to the culprit.

It took about ten minutes to unravel things—that is, to establish Vincent Gray's identity. Fortunately by this time the telephone was working, and fortunately Mr. Jones was in his office. It took five minutes more to discover that Winnie had given the false messenger Honduras instead of Mexican bonds and that the colonel was simply relieved of some waste paper.

When it came to apologies and inviting Mr. Gray to forgive and forget and stay to dinner, perhaps a full quarter of an hour was consumed, but it is not on record that Mr. Gray regarded the time as thrown away.

Now when the colonel smiles and throws out hints at his prospective son-in-law Miss Winnie blushes and protests. Aunt Ruth assumes one of her sweetest looks and says:

"I don't say I shall leave when he becomes one of the family, but I do say that I shall always lock up my jewelry when I go to bed and lock and bolt the door!"

Going to Congress.

A poor man had better keep out of congress. Campaign expenses are heavy and they come every two years. No man can go to congress without neglecting his law practice or his business. If he is a poor man he will probably lose his clients or his customers; a small business or practice will not support partners or managers. After a few years in congress nine men out of ten are beaten for renomination, and then, if they have not a fortune or an established business to fall back on, they will try to get some small salaried place under the government and may not be successful.—Philadelphia Record.

Chemical Changes.

By taking some limewater and blowing one's breath into it a fine white powder will be formed in the water.

By adding some common salt to a solution of nitrate of silver a thick white powder is produced which, if placed in the sunlight, will turn brown.

Pour the juice of a red cabbage into a test tube or thin glass bottle, drop in very gradually a solution of washing soda, shaking the bottle every time you put the washing soda in, and you will see the red solution gradually turning blue. Go on adding the soda solution, and the blue color will give way to green.

MRS. CASSIE CHADWICK.

Remains Prepared Yesterday For Shipment to Canada.

(By Wire to the Morning Star.)

Columbus, O., Oct. 11.—The body of Mrs. Cassie Chadwick, who died in the woman's ward of the Ohio penitentiary last night, was taken this evening to Woodstock, Canada, the place of her birth, for burial. The body was accompanied by Emil Hoover, son of Mrs. Chadwick, and Mrs. J. W. Weston, a sister, who arrived from Woodstock during the day. No services were held and plans for the burial at Woodstock were not announced.

The body of Mrs. Chadwick lay all day in an undertaking establishment and only a few persons were permitted to view it, although a crowd of curious people besieged the place. Two floral pieces, which had a card attached, were placed on the casket.

FAIR EXCHANGE.

A New Back for an Old One—How it Is Done in Wilmington.

The back aches at times with a dull, indescribable feeling, making you weary and restless; piercing pains shoot across the region of the kidneys, and again the loins are so lame to stoop is agony. No use to rub or apply a plaster to the back in this condition. You cannot reach the cause. Exchange the bad back for a new and stronger one. Follow the example of this Wilmington citizen.

R. F. Rowan, clerk with L. W. Davis' Clothing house, residing on Castle street, between Sixth and Seventh, Wilmington, N. C., says: "I strained myself lifting a heavy box, and suffered great pain across my back for a long time. I used plasters and liniments, but they did me no good. I could hardly stand up straight, my back was so weak. Seeing Doan's Kidney Pills advertised in our newspapers I went to Bellamy's drug store and got a box. I felt better the next day and continued using them according to directions and my back regained its old strength. I was simply surprised at the result. I will gladly recommend Doan's Kidney Pills every time for backache."

SPIRITS TURPENTINE

—Morehead Coaster: There were 450 boxes of fish shipped by express from here Friday morning. At a small estimate these fish would weight 56,350 pounds, or something over 28 tons.

—Sampson Democrat: A few days ago a friend showed us a grown unopened cotton boll from the farm of Mr. D. J. King, of Piney Grove, that must have been the largest ever seen in these parts by any one. It was about 5 inches in circumference.

—Tarboro Southerner: W. T. Knight has a new variety of Spanish peanuts. Some of them are as large as the Virginia. Many have three in a pod and a few have as many as four. While they do not resemble to the naked eye the ordinary Spanish, Mr. Knight says they grew from Spanish seed.

—Sampson Democrat: The government geological survey of Sampson is going on again. The work has been done principally North and West of Clinton. Seven horses arrived here last week for the use of the surveying party. We will probably know something of how the "ground lays" in Sampson after a while, and have a county map besides.

—Fayettaville Observer: It has just come to the notice of the Solicitor that last week a county magistrate sent a a man charged with larceny to the roads for thirty days and thirty days additional for failure to pay the cost. Of course the magistrate had no jurisdiction in the case and the Solicitor is pondering over what to do in such a case.

—Fayetteville, Oct. 10: The stockholders of the LaFayette Hotel Company perfected a permanent organization by the election of the following officers: C. Gresham, president; C. J. Cooper, secretary and treasurer, and Messrs. C. Gresham, M. McI. Matthews and C. J. Cooper, directors. It is said that the hotel will soon be fitted throughout with steam heat and also that the company contemplates enlarging it.

—Charlotte Observer: Tuesday evening at 8:30 o'clock Hon. John Sharp Williams, of Yazoo, Miss., will be the attraction at the Auditorium. There is promise of a fine audience on that occasion. Mr. Williams is one of the most learned public men in the country today. He has studied read and traveled until he is full of information and eloquent of tongue. Hundreds of the thinking men of this and surrounding counties will hear him.

—Chatham Record: Clerk of the Court James L. Griffin, under instructions from the Census office at Washington, has searched the records in his office of all divorces granted in this county for the past 20 years. He found that from January 1, 1886, to January 1, 1906, there were 61 divorces granted by the Superior Court of this county. Considering the lax divorce laws in force during that time, this is a much smaller number than we had suspected.

—Greensboro, Oct. 10: A distressing accident happened in the eastern part of the county yesterday afternoon. The little two-year-old child of Mr. Charlie Starr, a farmer in that part of the county, while playing in a room by itself, accidentally lost its balance and fell headforemost into a bucket of water around which it was playing, and being unable to free itself, drowned before any one could come to its assistance. The child's mother was in the house at the time, but was sick in bed and did not know anything of the terrible accident that had befallen her child until it had already been dead some time.

Richmond, Va., Oct. 6: The smoothest robbery of the United States postoffice which has taken place in this section for many years came to light today when it became known that a registered package containing $3,000, sent by the Bank of Richmond to a correspondent in North Carolina, had been robbed and a newspaper substituted for the bills. Government detectives have been working hard on the case for the past ten days and a suspected employe has been put through the third degree, but no arrests have yet been made. The robbery was the work of an expert, for the papers placed in the envelope were the exact weight and size of the bills that had been placed there by the bank officials in the presence of a government clerk and a representative of an insurance company. The bank will not lose, as the package was fully insured.

—Sampson Democrat: Some little interest attaches to the serving of a warrant on last Monday by the Sheriff upon the four Democratic members of the Board of Commissioners of Sampson, alleging that they failed to file their oaths of office as the law requires, at the time they qualified and entered upon the duties of the office of Commissioner. The warrant was sworn out before a Magistrate and returnable on the 9th, and at this writing we cannot give the outcome of the hearing, neither have we ascertained just yet whether or not there is a statute requiring the filing of this oath. These new Commissioners took the official oath, however, all right, though did not file any oath. Those we have heard commenting on the occurrence seem to look at it lightly and as of little consequence and certainty the people of the county cannot be effected by it, as no loss to any one can result from it.

NEW YORK STOCK MARKET.

(By Wire to The Morning Star.)

New York, Oct. 11.—A feeling of despondency weighed on speculative spirits in the financial district today and overbore all other considerations. Its cause had to be sought in an accumulation of previously existent influence, as there was no new development of event to account for it. It had the effect of paralyzing all demand for stocks and this prostration of the buying power gave swift effect to selling pressure, which was of urgent character in some cases. In some securities brokers from the floor had to report that the market was simply without a bid, in which cases the record was spared an actual quotation. In other cases where the market was sluggish but not paralyzed and small holdings were pressed remorselessly for sale concessions of many points were requisite before finding bids.

The coming dividend on Amalgamated Copper came in for discussion with no very hopeful auguries and intimations were broached of a probable total shut down of coppre production in the Montana fields.

The United States Steel stocks were heavily sold and both through the figures which popular estimation amongst the speculative element had fixed as hte probable level of final support by friends of property. Money on call averaged lower than for any day this week, and this was probably due partly to the scaling down of stock market loans which was being affected.

Bonds were irregular and dull. Total sales par value, $2,032,000. Total sales of stocks today, 863,400 shares.

THE COTTON MARKET

(By Wire to The Morning Star.)

New York, Oct. 11.—The cotton market had a fairly active day, but ruled nervous and irregular. The close was steady at a net advance of 4 to 10 points. Sales were estimated at 275,000 bales.

The opening was steady at unchanged prices to an advance of 3 points, which was considered about as due on the cables. During the early session prices worked up to a net gain of 11 to 13 points on covering by yesterday's sellers and some scattered buying for a turn, which was promoted by the steadiness of the English market, the large English spot sales, bullish advices from India and absence of any sure indication of weakening among Southern spot holders. Later the market eased off under a renewal of local bear pressure notwithstanding the forecast for frost in the territories, and in the early afternoon prices showed a net loss of about 3to 4 points. This was followed by a second advance on a renewal of December bull support and covering, promoted by the decline of early sellers to carry their commitments over the week end. The close was within 3 or 4 points of the highest point for the season. Private wires from the South were conflicting as to Southern spot conditions but receipts continue very light.

Receipts at the ports today(43,060 bales, against 45,040 last week, and 54,178 last year. For the week, 225,000 bales, against 227,697 last week, and 344,541 last year. Today's receipts at New Orleans 8,458 bales, against 7,799 last year, and at Houston, 7,171 bales, against 19,241 last year.

Spot cotton closed strong 10 points higher; middling uplands, 11.75; middling Gulf, 12.00; sales, 1,200 bales..

Futures opened steady and closed steady.

Game Played on Cold and Blustry Field—Receipts Were $17,285.50. Chicago Manager Gets Gold Watch and Floral Tiger.

(By Wire to the Morning Star).

Detroit, Mich., October. 11.—In the first game of the world's series on their own field, the Detroit American league team was beaten this afternoon by the Chicago Nationals by the score of 6 to 1. It was a well deserved victory for the Chicago team, as it played superior baseball throughout the game. There were several errors of omission on the part of the Detroit team, beside the two errors scored against them, which figured in the Chicago run-making. It was anything but baseball weather this afternoon. The temperature ranged between 46 and 50 degrees during the game, with a cold 12-mile wind from the north blowing across the diamond.

Detroit looked dangerous and bunched hits in but one inning, the fourth, when, with two out Cobb's fine three-bagger was followed by two singles, which, however, scored by one run, O'Leary striking out with the bases full.

Rossman continued his fine work at first and drove in Detroit's only run with his single, after Cobb had tripled. Donovan gave only two bases on balls, but both developed into runs, while neither of Overall's gifts was expensive.

Just before play was called at 2 o'clock, Manager Hugh Jennings was called to the plate where Mayor Thompson presented to him from local admirers a life size floral tiger and a gold watch.

The total receipts this afternoon were $17,285.50. They were divided as follows: The players, $9,334.17; the National commission, $1,728.55, and the Detroit and Chicago club owners $3,111.39 each.

The score:	R	H	E
Detroit .. .. ..000 100 00—1	6	2
Chicago .. .. ..000 020 301—6	7	1

Summaries: Three base hits—Cobb Sacrifice hits—Jones, Schaefer, Tinker, Overall. Stolen base—Chance. First base on balls—By Donovan, 2; by Overall, 2. Hit by pitcher—By Donovan,1. First base on errors—Detroit, 1; Chicago, 2. Left on bases—Detroit, 7; Chicago, 6. Struck out—By Donovan, 3; by Overall, 6. Double plays—Tinker, unassisted. Time, 1:40. Umpires, Sheridan and O'Day. Attendance, 11,306.

STRANGE COUPLE ON TOUR

Traveling Abroad Under Assumed Name.

(By Wire to The Morning Star.)

Liverpool, Oct. 11.—A young couple traveling under the name of Mr. and Mrs. Cunningham but whose names do not appear on the passenger list, landed here today from the steamer Empress of Britain. It was learned that they had boarded the liner at the last moment at Quebec. They waited at Liverpool until all the other passengers had gone ashore. These and other circumstances led to the suspicion that they are Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Clarkson although this statement cannot be made with certainty. The couple at once left here for London.

London, Oct. 11.—The mystery surrounding the disappearance more than a week ago of Helen Maloney, daughter of Martin Maloney the Philadelphia millionaire, was given a highly sensational turn today. At the time of Miss Maloney's disappearance Samuel Clarkson a young Englishman who had paid her marked attention, also dropped out of sight and it was reported and generally believed that the couple had eloped and been married. Last night came the news from Montreal that the missing pair had been married by a Catholic priest in that city and then had returned to New York and sailed for Europe. Following directly upon the heels of the Montreal announcement comes the publication here today of an unqualified statement from Arthur Herbert Osborn, a young broker of this city, that Miss Maloney is his wife. According to Osborn's statement he and Miss Maloney were married on December 28, 1905, and the marriage never has been annualled.

Although secrecy was sought to be maintained the fact that the marriage had taken place became known according to Osborn and he declares that among those who learned of it was young Clarkson.

EMPEROR JOSEPH IS PASSING.

Believed That Austria's Monarch is on Death Bed.

(By Wire to the Morning Star.)

Vienna, Oct. 11.—Midnight—This night is a critical one for Francis Joseph, the aged Emperor-King of Austria-Hungary. His Majesty's physicians are visibly becoming more anxious. The fever, which has lasted ten days, seems to have exhausted the wonderfully trained system of the monarch, and the symptoms of inflammation of the lungs are growing. Five times during the course of today his majesty remained for half an hour in a state of almost complete apathy, while at other times he was in a state of somnolence, and he is watched with the greatest anxiety.

Delegates Will Make Pilgrimage to Jamestown as Guests of Virginian Diocese.

EXPOSITION TRIP TO-DAY

House of Bishops Decided to Divide Diocese of Oregon—Dr. Huntington's Preamble Adopted by House of Deputies.

(By Wire to The Morning Star.)

Richmond, Va., Oct. 11.—Greater activity in restricting the grounds of divorces, a more widespread movement against the child labor evil, the adoption of the much mooted phrase, "This American Church" in a preamble to the constitution, and the question of providing for suffragan bishops as against missionary bishops, were among the measures urged in today's proceedings of the triennial convention of the Protestant Episcopal Church of America. Both houses were in session and a number of auxiliary organizations held meetings.

The constitutional preamble was voted on by dioceses and adopted by the House of Deputies after an hour's discussion. The preamble was reported by Dr. Huntington from the committee on amendments to constitution. The preamble was the subject of a very vigorous controversy among the clergy and lay delegates, the advocates taking the position that the phraseology "This American Church," does not involve a change of name and the opponents claiming to the contrary.

The resolution on child labor was offered in the House of bishops by Bishop Greer, of New York, and was as follows:

"Whereas, the evil of child labor is apparently on the increase in the United States and is known that the employment of children in factories, mines and shops reduces wages to the child's standard, disintegrates the family, deprives the child of natural rights to a period of training and depresses the human stock, and "whereas, we recognize the profound responsibility of the church for our ethical as well as our spiritual standards, therefore, we call upon employers and parents to exercise their influence toward better legislation and better enforcement of the laws, to the nd that the exploitation of the labor of children shall become impossible in this Christian country."

The resolution will be presented to the House of Deputies tomorrow morning.

Richmond, Va., Oct. 11.—There were but two events of interest in the general convention today. In the House of Bishops it was decided to divide the diocese of Oregon, the Cascade mountains to be the line. A message will be sent to the House of Deputies on Monday asking concurrence.

In the House of Deputies the only matter of importance was the adoption of the preamble offered by Dr. Huntington which has caused so much discussion. It was thought that the vote would be very close, but after an hour's spirited debate today the House of Deputies adopted the preamble by a vote of seven to one.

There will be no session of either House tomorrow, as the entire convention will go on their pilgrimage to Jamestown as guests of the diocese of Southern Virginia.

Tonight there are two meetings of alumnus associations. One is a banquet given by the alumni of the Virginia Seminary and the other a banquet by the alumni of Sawanee.

TEMPERANCE WAVE IN SOUTH.

Government Revenue is Affected—A Change in Districts.

(By Wire to The Morning Star.)

Washington, Oct. 11.—Commissioner Capers, of the Internal Revenue Bureau, has under consideration the re-arrangement and consolidation, for revenue collection purposes, of a number of Southern and Southwestern States. The constitution of Oklahoma which was recently adopted, absolutely prohibits the sale of intoxicating liquors as a beverage, within the State's borders, and on January 1, 1908, complete prohibition goes into effect in Georgia. South Carolina by recent action of the State is partly prohibition, and partly under the dispensary system. To meet these changed conditions the commissioner has in contemplation the consolidation of Oklahoma with Arkansas as one revenue division, Georgia and South Carolina as another; Mississippi and Louisiana and possbly Alabama as a third. As an alternative, Alabama may be consolidated with Florida.

To carry into effect these changes would necessitate an executive order by the President, but the action of this character is an administrative necessity. It is not likely, however, that definite action will be taken for some weeks.

BRYAN ON NATIONAL ISSUES.

Spoke at Virginia State Fair, But Gets Slim Notice.

(By Wire to The Morning Star.)

Richmond, Va., Oct. 11.—Today was "Bryan Day" at the State Fair here. Mr. William J. Bryan addressed an audidence estimated at from 8,000 to 10,000 people at the fair grounds. He was introduced by ex-Governor Montague, and discussed national issues in a two-hours speech. He was enthusiastically received. Tonight he was entertained at a supper given by the city council.

MARRIED WOMAN IS HIS AFFINITY

Young Preacher in New York Evidently Crazy Over Another Man's Wife.

TALKED LUNY IN COURT

Magistrate Committed Both to Jail to Be Examined for Their Sanity. Woman Left Husband and Went to Pastor.

(By Wire to the Morning Star.)

New York, Oct. 11.—Rev. Maxwell H. W. Walenta, pastor of the German mission church of Brooklyn, and Mrs. Louis A. Bauer, a parishoneer and the wife of an electrotyper, were arrested today and held in court for an inquiry into their mental conditions. The action was instituted by Mr. Bauer and the minister's father, Rev. Wenzel Walenta, of the German Emanuel Reformed Church, of Brooklyn. The complainants asserted that Mrs. Bauer had left her husband and child and sought refuge at the younger clergyman's house. The two were charged with offending public decency.

In court the accused minister, who is 28 years of age, denied wrong-doing, but admitted that the woman had been welcomed to his "official room" at 2 o'clock Wednesday morning. "She and her husband had differences," he explained. "I saw it was impossible for me to effect a reconciliation. I welcomed her to my church. I felt in Mrs. Bauer a living soul and my soul cried aloud for somebody who was alive in the twentieth century. In her I realized my affinity."

"I believe you both need to be examined as to your mental condition," commented the magistrate, who committed the prisoners.

29 SENT BACK TO SPAIN.

Immigrants Had Sailed 14,000 Miles to Hawaii.

(Special to Baltimore Sun.)

Washington, Oct. 10.—After making a journey of nearly 14,000 miles across two oceans and around Cape Horn, a party of 29 immigrants have been deported from the Territory of Hawaii and are on their way back to Spain and the Azores.

These 29 were a part of a shipload of several hundred Spaniards who landed at Houolulu three months ago, intending to settle and make new homes and fortunes on the island territory. But fate was against them, and for various reasons they were ordered deported, and in the course of two weeks will find themselves back at their starting point richer by several thousand miles of travel at the expense of the treasury of Hawaii, but no better off than when they started except in experience.

It was the intention of the Department of Commerce and Labor to send the unlucky 29 back around the Horn, the route they came; but no ship was found going by that route, and they were finally placed on board a steamer, which took them to San Francisco and by train across the Continent from San Francisco to New York.

HESTER'S COTTON STATISTICS.

Gives World's Visible Supply As 2,518,614 Bales.

(By Wire to the Morning Star.)

New Orleans, Oct. 11.—Secretary Hester's statement of the world's visible supply of cotton issued today shows the total visible to be 2,518,614 bales, against 2,369,436 last week, and 2,344,648 last year. Of this the total American cotton is 1,975,738 bales, against 1,619,174 last week, and 1,609,648 last year, and of all other kinds, including Egypt, Brazil, India, etc., 782,876, against 760,062 last week, and 735,000 last year. Of the world's visible supply of cotton there is now afloat and held in Great Britain and continental Europe 1,432,004, against 1,045,000 last year; in Egypt 64,000, against 65,000 last year; in India, 361, against 439,000 last year, and in the United States 732,000, against 746,000 last year.

NOT A BEAR IN SIGHT.

President Breaks Hunting Camp Near Stamboul, La.

(By Wire to The Morning Star.)

Stamboul, La., Oct. 11.—Rooosevelt camp at the Monticello crossing of the bayou on Tensas has passed into history. The President left the place at 6 o'clock this morning and when he turned his back on the camp it was with the determination not to return again. He headed towards Bear Lake, whence on Sunday he will remove to another camp, which will be pitched near Newellton, in Tensas parish, on a branch of the Iron Mountain road.

No member of the party has had the remotest glimpse of a bear, nor have any of the dogs with which they are supplied, struck at any time a well defined bear track. The President accepts the situation philosophically, saying that the present is not the only search for game that ever came to naught.

TO MERGE CANNING PLANT

New York Firm Launches Scheme For Southern Trust.

(Special to Baltimore Sun.)

New York, Oct. 10.—George W. Young & Co. have launched a scheme for a consolidation of canning plants of the South. According to statements issued today a $10,000,000 corporation has been formed, which has acquired control of the McIlhenny Canning and Manufacturing Company and the E. McIlhenny & Son, of Louisiana. The capital stock is divided into $5,000,000 common and $5,000,000 preferred.

It was announced today that the company will acquire control of other canning and manufacturing companies and aggressively develop the business.

Wall street dubbed the new combination the "Tobasco Trust," as it will seek to control the output of tobasco.

SECRETARY RESCUED HIM

Mr. Robert Bacon's Heroic Act at Boston Yesterday.

(By Wire to the Morning Star.)

Boston, Mass, Oct. 11.—Assistant Secretary of State Robert Bacon figured in a heroic rescue on the Charles river late today when he jumped overboard from the Harvard launch Veritas and swam to the rescue of two boys who had been capsized in a canoe and succeeded in saving the life of one. The second boy was rescued by J. S. Reed a student of Harvard, who followed Bacon into the water.

FOOLED IN MINING

Montana and Washington Investors Were Fleeced Heavily.

(By Wire to the Morning Star.)

Helena, Mont., Oct. 11.—The Record today publishes a story to the effect that numbers of Montana and Washington investors have been mulcted to the extent of more than a third of a million dollars through the discovery that certain placer mines near Lander, Wyoming, had been salted and that the property in question is worthless.

SECOND DEGREE MURDER

Ralph Dew Charged at Wilson With Double Killing.

(Special to Charlotte Chronicle.)

Wilson, N. C., Oct. 11.—The jury in the case of Ralph Dew, charged with killing his wife and brother on September 7th, last night brought in a verdict of murder in the second degree. Dew caught his wife and brother in the woods in a compromising position and killed them both. He has not yet been sentenced.

Three negro men were lynched at Tunica, Miss., yesterday for a series of burglaries. Two were hanged to a telegraph pole and the other was shot to death.

What's the Use of paying more for an article through prejudice, than you can buy for less, that's just as good?

Take Whiskey, for Instance.

We make but one charge—just for whiskey—that's all. When you pay more than we ask for our whiskey you are being taxed for something else besides the whiskey.

Now "WHAT'S THE USE" of you paying an excess to anybody for imaginary superiority—when we have the same goods, but are content through immense volumes of sales, to break even on profits—instead of "hikeing up" the price beyond the point of giving you value received.

"CHESTERFIELD" products are "AS GOOD AS THE BEST FOR LESS." That's the reason "CHESTERFIELD" Whiskies are popular.
